Background

In October 2018, TTC detected an increase in flat spots on subway wheels operating on Line 2 (Bloor-Danforth). Although the occurrence of wheel flats is common in the rail industry during the autumn and winter months, an extraordinary increase in wheel flats was detected over a short period of time.

With this spike in wheel flats and the need to maintain daily subway service, some trains were operating with wheel flats, causing an increase in levels and frequency of noise and vibrations on Line 2. During its investigation into the root cause(s) of the increase, TTC continuously addressed the identified wheel flats at its Greenwood and Wilson facilities. By mid-July 2019, trains operated on Line 2 with no severe or moderate flats. As Fall approaches, please join us for an update on the ongoing work to reduce wheel flats.
